

Oasis in Madison Week Two Newsletter 2018

Week Two had lots of highlights despite being a short week due to the July 4th holiday. We hosted over sixty teens from our N.Y.C. sister camps and treated them to an amazing field day and Jersey Pizza (aka real pizza). They were happy to see the land where the Jets and Giants actually play football and then they signed legal documents admitting Ellis Island is actually N.J. property. No they didn't, but it was comedy week and all of our campers had an amazing time.

NEXT WEDNESDAY IS SUPERHERO/SUPERVILLAIN DAY. IF YOU'RE ON A TIGHT ALLOWANCE LIKE ME, BREAK OUT THAT OLD HALLOWEEN COSTUME AGAIN. IRON MAN REMAINS AWESOME AFTER ALL.

New Staff: Instructors

We're very lucky to have a great mix of new hires, returners, returners from Oasis in Union, and returners moving into new positions this year.

Eli comes to us from Union, and this is his first year as Sports and Games Instructor. His specialty is using humor to teach listening skills in an athletic setting. He's on the left next to an intensely-photobombing Drew.

Dean is a soccer superstar from Maplewood Summer Camp. He loves that Soccer always has a skill-based winner and isn't statistically about luck.

Deidre is studying counseling at the University of Scranton and plans to utilize art therapy with kids.

Olivia is brand new to Oasis, but she's fit the Nature position like the sun fits the outdoors. You can spot her embodying the Oasis spirit in the dance party picture on the previous page.

Gary is our Performing Artist this year, and his resume ends with one of the best sentences I've read all year: "I am double-jointed and can belch on command." He was so hired after that...

Dr. Nick and J.C. are returners, bringing a wealth of experience to Enrichment and Basketball, respectively.
